

Where weekends remember how to breathe

Aranyaka Sway isn't just a memory of a slower, simpler life — it's a way of living. Somewhere between high-rise routines and endless city traffic, we've lost the luxury of unhurried weekends. Aranyaka Sway, by Aranyaka Estates, brings that feeling back with thoughtfully designed second homes that let you reconnect with nature. Located in Mandapur, Rajasthan, Aranyaka Sway has been imagined as an escape for those who have built successful lives in the city, yet increasingly feel the need to step away from its overstimulation. Spread across 63 acres, with a limited number of premium plots, the project has the spirit of a retreat while remaining rooted in planned real estate. It is positioned as a legal, gated farmhouse community, offering space, privacy and a lifestyle investment that holds both emotional and wellness value. What gives Aranyaka Sway an emotional pull is its understanding that luxury today is not always about grandeur. With design philosophy shaped by Sujata Kohli and backed by

Aranyaka Estates' foundation of land ownership and compliance-led development, Sway offers the comfort of modernity without losing the charm of simplicity. For Delhi NCR's success-driven individuals, Aranyaka Sway is a reminder of how life once felt, and how it can feel again. The brand has come up with their latest campaign, 'SOMEDAY', which is the word every city-worn dream hides behind. The idea behind the campaign is that someday, we will leave earlier. Someday, we will take that drive. Someday, children will play under an open sky. Someday, parents will not be visited in a hurry. Someday, weekends will feel like weekends again. At Aranyaka Sway, that someday finds its address. Set away from the rush of the city, it turns the idea of a second home into something far more personal: a place for the promises one keeps making to life, family and oneself. Because the best time to call may have been someday. The second-best time is today. HTC For more details, call: 9810206115

WHAT GIVES ARANYAKA SWAY ITS EMOTIONAL PULL IS ITS UNDERSTANDING THAT LUXURY IS NOT ALWAYS ABOUT GRANDEUR. SOMETIMES, IT IS ABOUT SILENCE

FIFA World Cup tickets for ₹5,000? NYC Mayor says yes

New York City Mayor Zohran Mamdani recently announced that its residents will get a rare chance to buy affordable 2026 FIFA World Cup tickets along with free round-trip bus transport. The announcement was made after securing a deal with FIFA president Gianni Infantino for 1,000 tickets priced at just $50 (approx ₹53,000). The tickets will only be valid for matches at MetLife Stadium, New Jersey. The tickets will remain non-transferable to prevent resale and scalping. The move comes as World Cup tickets resale prices continue to surge in the US, with average tickets crossing $550 (approx ₹53,000), while the cheapest ticket for the July 19 final is reportedly selling for over $7,700 (approx ₹7 lakh). Meanwhile, football fans in India face a different uncertainty. With less than three weeks to go before the FIFA World Cup 2026 begins on June 12 (IST), there is still no clarity on where the tournament will be broadcast in the country. HTC
